

Viscosity of Polyester Resins, measured with our Process Viscometer

Temperature sweeps with samples taken before/after polymerisation

11.09.2008

Results:

The samples show a significant different viscosity before/after polymerisation
The sample from batch 2 before polymerisation was heated up to more than 225 °C to illustrate the viscosity change during polymerisation.

